

Voluntary board members

Would you like to help solve housing issues in Cornwall?

Penwith Housing Association is governed by voluntary board members drawn from residents, councillors and independent members of the community. Our board makes strategic decisions and guides the overall direction of the association.

If you are interested in playing a strategic role in our business, then we look forward to hearing from you. To join our interest register or for an informal conversation about the role, please telephone David Barlow, Company Secretary on 01736 331799. Alternatively, see the links below for an information pack and application form.

We are committed to equal opportunities and welcome applications from across the community.
